Prewitt Against Raise.

Henry R. Prewitt, State Insurance Commissioner, will oppose any plan of fire insurance companies to cover their San Francisco losses by a general raise in rates. "It may be necessary," said Commissioner Prewitt, "for the companies to re-adjust many rates in the State, but for a number of years the companies have prospered in Kentucky. To attempt now, by arbitrary means or combined power, to shift the burden of their losses and mistakes upon those who already pay full, fair or excessive rates, is oppressive and unjust, and I will hear any complaint made by any citizen in the State where the companies are attempting to raise the rates, and unless good reason is shown, will use all the power of my office to prevent a raise."

Millersburg Goes Dry.

The local option election resulted in the defeat of the license system. By a vote of 129 to 109 it was decided that Millersburg be a "dry" town.

The interest has been intense, beginning in a series of meetings at the Presbyterian church. On Saturday afternoon last there was a mass meeting in the Park. On Sunday morning there were union services among the colored people in one of the colored churches. M. J. Fanning, the Irish temperance orator, of Pennsylvania, conducted a union meeting of white people in the Methodist church.

In the afternoon there was a grand rally for men at the opera house, ladies' prayer meeting at the Methodist and Presbyterian church. The M. M. Cadets, the M. F. C. girls and the children of the town and community paraded the streets carrying banners, flags and other appropriate emblems, singing hymns and marching to the notes of drum and fife.

A large and enthusiastic prayer meeting in the evening at the Presbyterian church closed the day. The ringing of the church and school bells at 5 o'clock in the morning announced to the town that the day of decision was at hand. Nothing was left undone by either side. The cadets and children paraded the streets the entire day with their banners.

A Case of Necessity.

One Sunday two small boys were industriously digging in a vacant lot when a man who was passing stopped to give them a lecture.

"Don't you know it is a sin to dig on Sunday, unless it be a case of necessity?"

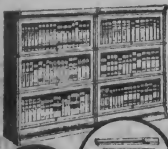

"Yes, sir," timidly replied one of the boys.

"Then why don't you stop it?"

"Cause this is a case of necessity," replied the little philosopher.

New Methodist Law.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, passed its first law May 8, when it concurred in the main report of the Revisals Committee as amended on the powers of ordained preachers. Under the new law preachers who have not been ordained may preach the gospel, celebrate the rite of matrimony, administer baptism and in the absence of the presiding elder or bishop control the appointments of all services to be held in the church in his charge with the understanding that no permanent powers of ordination are conferred until the same shall be granted by the laying on of hands after he shall have met the disciplinary requirements.

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

Trip to Wolfe County.

On Tuesday morning of last week the writer left on early train for Wolfe Circuit Court. At McCormick, the L & E station at this end of Natural Bridge tunnel we took train on the Mountain Central R. R. This road is mounted, operated and being extended by John C. Day, of Winchester. A portion of it was built for the purpose of getting logs from thousands of acres of land including Chimney Top. In getting out of the gorge there is an ascent of 500 feet from the station to top of bridge, through scenes beautiful, wild and picturesque. The large part of this ascent is made within probably 2 to 2 1/2 miles. You ought to see it. The road bed is laid with new ties, and bridges, and T rails and is narrow gauge.

Mr. Day has already extended the road to Pine Hill, and trains run regularly over 3 1/2 miles of track, and a force of men is finishing the grading on to Campton about 5 miles. The work will be rapidly done and the intention is to have trains enter Campton about August. For 8 1/2 miles the freight rate is 10c per 100 lbs. and passenger 50c. Trains connect with L & E. trains, and a back conveys you from Pine Hill to Campton.

Mr. Day has bought new rolling stock and he expects to build firm and secure.

Travel from Torrent will be apt to cease.

CAMPTON.

There has been considerable building during the past year. The oil industry has been the incentive. There are over 100 producing wells. Others are being drilled, but the excitement has subsided. There is not enough gas for domestic use and to run the engines used in pumping the oil wells. We heard citizens speak of the shortage.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge Riddell presided. The trial of the Dykes-Wilson murder case was on. The accused are to be tried separately. The Common wealth elected to try Harlan Dykes first. On Thursday forenoon the jury was sequestered. We left at 12 o'clock, so heard no testimony.

We have never been a judge or a prosecuting lawyer; but a plain citizen—assured by the ways of criminal practice may sometimes suggest propounds and questions, which are not made a show of respect for. The fact is that there were dangerous men in town (how many we did not count) and that they were armed. Harlan Dykes the principal on trial for killing a Mr. Wilson was a conspicuous person in the crowd for two days, having been under bond.

We had no X-ray machine and our vision could not penetrate the fabric of his coat, but while he sat inside the railing during the empanelling of the jury we could easily see what appeared to be a pistol under and behind his left arm, also a suspicious elevation over the right hip.

A man told us that Dykes carried a repeating "chamber" pistol which shoots 16 times and cost $30. Judging from that we saw we thought that with all propriety an order could and should have been issued that all deadly weapons be excluded from the court-room, and that suspicious appearances would justify a search for weapons.

We spent Thursday night at Stanton, occupying room with T. F. Rogers. Spent the day at Stanton, Clay City, etc.

To the Barley Grower.

Last week we published through-out the district that the right thing to do was to cut the 1908 crop down one-third. Now we give the reasons:

The first is that the grower desires better prices for his crop, which includes his brain work, his skilled labor and the sweat of his brow. He claims that, owing to low prices, his is the poorest paid labor of any class, which is true.

We have tried by means of interesting large capital to buy the tobacco at better prices than the trust would pay—to buy and hold the tobacco until they are willing to pay a reasonably fair price.

We were criticized by some that growers lacked confidence; by others that they did not understand the plan, and by others that some scheme was in it.

Now here is something that all understand—here is something of direct benefit to the grower and no one else.

If you cut the crop one-third you put yourselves in control of the situation and change positions with the trust. It will be easy to hold a small crop, if necessary to hold it.

You force the laws of supply and demand to the front and the trust cannot stop it. You get all the benefits.

It is not too late—it is just the right time to act. Had you agreed upon a move of this kind in January or February outsiders who did not raise tobacco would have sown plant-beds and planted tobacco in a way that would have made success impossible, resulting in a big crop and defeat the object. Now they control the plant bed and it's too late for outsiders to checkmate you.

It is true the landowner has made his arrangements with tenants. Suppose he has. Is not this movement more important to both landowner and tenant than anything else on the farm? If there is not enough in it to repay both for the slight trouble in shifting your arrangements, then we are all hugging a delusion.

When you acknowledge, as you must, that cutting the crop one-third will about double the present price, you must also acknowledge that you would rather have 14c for 20,000 pounds, or 20 acres, than 7c for 30,000 pounds or 30 acres, besides the great advantage of getting prices on a higher basis, with a chance to keep them there; also the saving of labor, and the wear and tear on the land.

The above being true, and it undoubtedly is true, why not do it? You say we cannot because we cannot agree to do it—that was true, but is not now—though your organization you can now agree and the Company can attend to the details, and the execution of the agreement.

There is no time in the year from January to January so well fitted, an opportune, to do this as now. The regular Burley growers have the advantage now. Schemes cannot be concocted to knockout. You are on safe ground and master of the situation. What you say on the subject now, goes—the Trust cannot stop it. Will you grasp the opportunity and rise up with enthusiasm and say Yes we will try it—instruct me by letter to call a grand mass meeting at Lexington, and decide, if I get sufficient encouragement I will set at once.

Our organization in the counties can organize the products they report back to the counties and the Company.

Once agreed to be done this company can attend to the details and the balance.

Let everybody write his yes or no to the K. & O. Burley Tobacco Growers Co., Cincinnati—a postal card will do—but do it now.

General Conference of M. E. Church South in Session at Birmingham Ala.

Forty-sixth annual conference was represented by 290 delegates. This Conference meets every four years and by the death of the other causes 200 of this number are new men. The delegation to this body are equally divided between ministers and laymen. Kentucky was represented by Rev. W. F. Taylor, W. E. Arnold and F. G. B. Mann and Messrs W. W. Ball, C. H. Duty, Col. G. W. Bain, being unavoidably absent.

Dr. Taylor presented a paper, advocating the appropriation of the funds realized on children's day to the education of children not able to pay their own tuition. Kentucky Conference Journal memorials, Lay representatives of district conferences and advance Bible study are in the hands of a good committee. There are fourteen committees as follows:

1. Episcopacy, 2. Itineracy, 3. Revivals, 4. Publishing interests, 5. Education, 6. Church Extension, 7. Missions, 8. Boundaries, 9. Temperance, 10. Sunday-schools, 11. Epworth League, 12. Appeals, 13. Finance, 14. Calportage.

There are nine bishops present who preside in turn. Church building in which Conference is held cost $ 65,000 and of the 90,000 population in Birmingham, 14,000 are Methodists. The thirty charges in the Birmingham Presiding Elders district, pay an average salary of $1200. These pastors surely work at their calling and hence the returns. Kentucky Methodism falls in rank below Virginia, Texas, Missouri, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

There were 2000 persons present at the opening session and to hear the welcome addresses.

A special work in California will be assigned to Bishop Kavanaugh. Dr. Allen, 47 years a missionary to China gave a complete report, of his work.

Some of the live issues to be decided here are: The removal of the time limit from the pastoral; the combination of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies; and radical changes in the management of church papers. When the committees begin to report on some such live questions as these, there are likely to be some great debates on the floor.

Declaratory Contest.

The musical and literary evening at which were selected candidates for the Annual State Public School Contest was held in the Court-house last Friday before a large and appreciative audience. The difficult and trying position of judges was with much trepidation of soul accepted by Mrs. Abner Rogers, Mrs. J. H. E. Jephson and Mrs. Clayton Howell in music, and Mrs. Randall, Rev. H. G. Turner and Rev. Arthur R. Price in declamation.

The judges at this writing are asking if they should look upon Prof. Gunn, at whose request they have the temerity (for now they feel their stipend was more like temerity) to take upon themselves such an onerous duty as a friend.

The judges in declamation took the position that clear enunciation was the desideration, not only in this contest but in the art of elocution and so they conferred the honor of selection as Mt. Sterling's champion upon Miss Katharine Spence Herriot.

To Miss Serena Fitzpatrick who sang with expression, was given the contest in vocal music.

Does Business.

Insurance Commissioner H. R. Prewitt has revoked the licenses of several insurance companies, among which are Security Mutual Life and Travelers, due to removing cases from the State to the Federal Courts, which action was tested in the Supreme Court and Mr. Prewitt was sustained. Such a decision adds new laurels to Mr. Prewitt's enviable reputation of standing for the people's interests.

This decision settles two important questions—the power and rights of the States and the Commissioner's power to revoke licenses when companies refuse to abide the State laws.

Mr. Prewitt will not be hard on companies who regard the law.

Picnic and Fishing.

Miss Beatie Robinson closed her school on last Friday by taking her pupils on a picnic and fishing trip to Howard's Mill. The day was an ideal one and all enjoyed themselves hugely, and more especially when an elegant luncheon was spread. Some of the pupils had the pleasure (?) of a few "bites" and an occasional catch. Miss Robinson did all in her power to make all have a good time, and from what we hear she succeeded in so doing. Those outsiders who participated were Mrs. R. C. Robinson, Mrs. E. F. Robertson, Mrs. W. V. Leach, Mrs. Hamilton, and Mrs. C. B. Stephens, and Misses Mae Richardson and Sallie Ledford.

These extortion prices will not work, and most generally a hard ship comes to the extortioners in the end.

Stolen Cattle.

A couple of cows were stolen from farms near Clintonville and were sold to Henry Gillespie. The owners of the cows found and reclaimed their stock and Mr. Gillespie traced the men to Mt. Sterling where one was arrested and lodged in jail. He gave his name as Ed Tachett and his home at Ironton, Ohio. Mr. Gillespie found another of the men and collared him, but the prisoner broke loose and escaped with a companion. Several horses have been stolen recently in Bourbon county and it is thought an organized gang is at work.
